

Introductions

Explain goal of discussion: As you know, the project you've been working on is a partnership between researchers at USF and staff at the SCHD. In projects like this one, we try to keep track of what works and what doesn't work quite as well, so that we can learn from our successes and mistakes and constantly try to improve how we do things.

This has been our first experience working with adolescents as co-researchers, and we'd like to get some of your thoughts about how the experience has been for you.

1. What has been the most challenging aspect of being one of the youth researchers?
2. What has been your favorite part of being one of the youth researchers?
3. How well do you think the training you received prepared you for the actual work?
4. What changes would you recommend to us for working with youth like yourselves in the future?
5. If you were asked by a friend to describe this experience, what would you tell him/her?
