

USF HEALTH BYRD ALZHEIMER'S INSTITUTE

USF Health Byrd Alzheimer's Institute Public Tours

Alzheimer's disease is devastating, not only to people suffering from the disease and their families, but to our community as well. As part of USF, the 9th largest research university in the nation, the Institute provides state-of-the-art research and services to persons living with Alzheimer's disease — from bench to bedside.

On the tour, you will visit the Discovery Labs and see our researchers at work in the pursuit to find a cure for Alzheimer's. You will also learn about the clinical trials, services, and care we provide to patients and families currently dealing with this disease — all under one roof.

Along the way, you will learn about our revolutionary Center for Memory C.A.R.E. (Clinical Assessment Research Education) on the second floor for patients and their families at the Institute.
