Join the University of South Florida’s College of Nursing on a trip abroad to the beautiful country of Scotland! While abroad, you will experience the beauty of Scotland, while learning about health care delivery in other regions of the world. This trip is an amazing way to complete the Community Health requirements for graduation, all while experiencing a new country and developing new, inter-professional relationships.

Costs vary depending on length and type of program. Current costs are disclosed during information sessions.

Visit health.usf.edu/nursing/global for information session dates and additional information.
While abroad, you have the opportunity to deliver nursing care, education and services to local residents in Scotland.

Our Global Abroad trips are designed to facilitate inter-professional relationships with other medical professionals, as well as your classmates and local residents.

While in Scotland, you deliver health care services to local residents at several different rural clinics throughout the area of Scotland.

You have opportunities to experience Scotland and its culture through group activities such as festivals and tours.
