

Eloho Ajayi MD.

Transplant Infectious Disease Fellow,
Moffitt Cancer Center.
elohe.ajayi@moffitt.org

MEDICAL EDUCATION:

University of Lagos,
College of Medicine, Nigeria.
08/2005- 09/2011

POST-GRADUATE TRAINING:

- Internship:
Abington-Jefferson Health, Abington, Pennsylvania. 07/2016 - 07/2017
- Residency:
Abington-Jefferson Health, Abington, Pennsylvania.
07/2017 – 06/2019
- Fellowship:
Infectious diseases, University of Cincinnati Medical center.
07/2019 – 06/2021
- Fellowship:
Transplant and Immunosuppressed Infectious Diseases, Moffitt Cancer Center.
07/2021 -06/2022
- Graduate Certificate in Clinical and Translational Research, University of Cincinnati.
08/2020- 04/2021

CURRENT RESEARCH:

My research is focused on determining the efficacy of terbinafine containing combination anti-fungal therapy in treatment of invasive mold infections caused by multidrug resistant isolates in immunocompromised host.

MEMBERSHIP AND HONORARY/PROFESSIONAL SOCIETIES:

- Infectious Disease Society of America
- Gold Humanism Honor Society; Inducted in 2018

AWARDS:

- Second place Infectious Diseases Society of Ohio Annual Meeting 2021 Fellow's Presentation.
- Recipient of the 2020 IDWeek Trainee Award.
- Recipient of the 2019 Richard C. Gozon Compassion in Medicine Award
- Second place in the Abington Hospital Jefferson Health Department of Internal Medicine Resident Research Symposium 2019.

CERTIFICATIONS:

- American Board of Internal Medicine (2019)
- Institute for Health Care Improvement (IHI) open school: Basic Certificate in Quality and Safety (2018)

POSTER / ORAL PRESENTATIONS:

- Seeing through the guise! A very perplexing case of persistent fevers in a pregnant immigrant.
- Presented at: Infectious Diseases Society of Ohio Annual Meeting 2021 Fellow's Presentation.
- Influence of Histoplasma capsulatum infection on Endothelin-1 mRNA Gene Expression in Bone Marrow Derived Macrophages.
Presented at: IDWeek 2020 (role: Presenting Author)
- Influenza Vaccine Rates Amongst Patients with Limited English Proficiency in A Primary Health Care Clinic; Our 3 years' Experience.
Presented at IDWeek 2020 (role: Presenting Author)
- Ajayi (Edosio), E. (May, 2017).
Contact precautions - How patient centered are they? Poster presented at: Thomas Jefferson University house staff Quality Improvement and Patient safety poster session 2017.; Philadelphia, PA, USA.
- Ajayi (Edosio), E., & Naglak, M., & Schneider, D. (June, 2018).
Adequate patient education - The key to improving patient experience while being under contact precautions? Poster presented at: Thomas Jefferson University house staff Quality Improvement and Patient safety poster session 2017.; Philadelphia, PA, USA.

- Hospital Ground Round presentation at Abington Hospital Jefferson Health, June 2019. Title “Adequate patient education - The key to improving patient experience while being under contact precautions.”

ARTICLES:

- Ajayi (Edosio), E., & Barry, H., & Arif Z. (2018, April 01). Contact Precautions- Does it affect patients’ perception of health care provided? DrexelMed Journal.
- Ajayi (Edosio) E., & Cassin M., & Kelley C. (2017, March 30). Three Cases of the Unwanted Tetrad - A Case Series on Human Babesia. DrexelMed Journal.
- Ajayi (Edosio), E., & Braun, T. (2018, April 01). Capnocytophaga canimorsus- An unusual cause of severe thrombocytopenia in an immunocompetent host. DrexelMed Journal.
- Ajayi (Edosio), E., & Nwosu, C., & Ramirez, R. (2017, March 30). The Scourge of Heroin Abuse. DrexelMed Journal.
- Ajayi (Edosio), E., & Sack, M.. (2018, April 01). Right sided hypothalamic stroke presenting with Horner's syndrome - An unusual presentation of disseminated Coccidioidomycosis. DrexelMed Journal.

VOLUNTEER / COMMUNITY SERVICE:

- Created a Standard Operating procedure for implementing the “Expanded Access to Convalescent Plasma for the Treatment of Patients with COVID-19 protocol” at University of Cincinnati Medical center in 2020.
- Member of the Journal Club Review Committee at the Department of Internal Medicine, Abington-Jefferson Health 2018.

HOBBIES:

Reading, swimming, listening to classical music