Dr. Daniel Haight is Lakeland Regional Medical Center's Associate Vice President of Community Health. In this role, he leverages his extensive experience directing, teaching, studying and treating public health issues as he leads LRMC in building healthier communities. In addition to his position at LRMC, Daniel is a practicing board certified internal medicine physician and was named on the Best Doctors of America list for 2009 and 2011 to 2013. He is also a past president of the Polk County Medical Association and serves as an associate professor at the University of South Florida's Morsani College of Medicine in the Department of Internal Medicine, Division of Infectious Diseases and International Medicine.
Prior to joining LRMC, Daniel served as the director of the Polk County Health Department for more than 16 years where he fulfilled the critical mission of providing health and wellness services and programs for community residents. Daniel demonstrates his passion for providing care for all members of the community by serving for over ten years at the Lakeland Volunteers in Medicine Free Clinic. He is also an original member of the We Care Board of Directors. We Care organizes volunteer specialty medical care for the medically indigent.
