

COLLEGE OF PUBLIC HEALTH DEAN'S LECTURE SERIES

"The Public Health Laboratory - a Kaleidoscope of Challenges and Achievements"

Dr. Max Salfinger
 Chief, Bureau of Laboratories, Florida Department of Health

Friday, January 22, 2010
 12:00 pm

The Samuel P. Bell Auditorium – Room #1023 A
 USF College of Public Health

Dr. Salfinger is currently the Chief of the Florida Department of Health Bureau of Laboratories, a network of 5 public health laboratories with more than 350 staff members. In addition, he is an Affiliate Professor at the Department of Global Health with the College of Public Health at the University of South Florida. Prior to his current position, Dr. Salfinger was with the New York State Department of Health Wadsworth Center from 1992 to November 2006. He has trained more than 50 International Fogarty Fellows, School of Public Health Interns, and visiting scientists. He has published more than 100 articles and book chapters. Dr. Salfinger has a keen interest in public health leadership.